Rojone is committed to preventing pollution and environmental impacts directly or indirectly related to our processes, products, and services.

To achieve our environmental objectives, we have included a focus on the Environmental Management System requirements of the international standard: ISO 14001:2015.

Accordingly, we will:

- comply with relevant environmental legislation and regulations, and all pertinent customer requirements
- identify environmental aspects and impacts and, wherever practicable, limit or eliminate any adverse impacts that are within our control
- ensure, wherever feasible, the efficient use of resources such as water, gas and electricity, limiting and recycling waste
- educate, train and provide sufficient resources, including identifying clear roles, responsibilities and authorities, to our employees, as well as where appropriate, to sub-contractors and visitors, so that all relevant parties understand environmental issues and the environmental effects of their activities
- monitor, through operational and management meetings, and systematic auditing, the continual improvement of our environmental performance towards established objectives
- develop and maintain operational procedures to minimise and handle any emergencies should they occur.

We are committed to the principles of continual improvement to enhance our environmental performance. We are also committed to protecting the environment, including preventing pollution, in line with the context of our organisation.

Management supports this Environmental Policy and the Management System that has been implemented. It is the responsibility of all employees to ensure it is understood, implemented, and maintained at all levels within the Company.
